

STATEHOOD IS SET FOR BIRTHDAY OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Phoenix Paper Claims to Have Information
on Subject

CELEBRATION PLANS

Amidst the probable date for the admission of Arizona to statehood, the Phoenix Gazette claims to have "inside information" that Lincoln's birthday will be the momentous occasion. The Gazette is right on the scene where the count is being made, and should be in a position to judge better approximately of the date when the count may be expected to be completed than papers in other Arizona cities. Whether or not it has beyond this any other information not obtainable by others and not so obtained, is not so manifest, but in its issue of Tuesday evening that paper says:

From reliable information obtained by the Gazette today, Monday, February 12, will be the day Arizona will pass from a territory to a state. Efforts are being made by the canvassing board to get all the returns counted and forwarded to President Taft by the first of the month, so that he may be able to issue his proclamation February 12, President Lincoln's birthday.

Already, it is said, plans are under way for the holding of a big celebration on the night of the twelfth, and in connection with the statehood celebration, a program fitting for a Lincoln birthday celebration will be given.

As soon as the president issues his proclamation, which will send Arizona into the union of states, the new officers recently elected throughout the territory will take their seats. Arizona's first governor, G. W. P. Hunt, is expected in the city from Globe soon after the first, and will make his home at the Ford hotel.

GUGGENHEIM DIVORCE CASE

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 24.—The matrimonial difficulties of William Guggenheim, of smelter fame, came up before a Chicago judge again today for solution. Mrs. Grace Guggenheim, first wife of the New York millionaire, is seeking to have set aside the decree of divorce granted to her in 1901. The case has frequently been before the courts of Illinois and New York since the first Mrs. Guggenheim, after her husband had married again, discovered that she was not a legal resident of Illinois when she obtained her divorce from her husband. She now makes this plea the basis for a suit to have the divorce declared null and void and her rights as the wife of Mr. Guggenheim restored.

BISBEE'S RIVAL IS AFTER POST

District Cannot Well Afford to Play Waiting
Game With Old

FIELD IS NOT CLEAR

If Bisbee is "going after" a brigade post for the Warren District, it were well to be up and doing now and all the time. As has been stated the chances are excellent for the establishment of a post here if Fort Huachuca is abandoned as appears likely from the advices from Washington which outline a policy of the abolition of the small posts in the west. But there is not by any means a clear field for Bisbee. Tucson is a rival and should not be ignored for Tucson is up and doing. This is shown by the following article which was published in the Tucson Citizen on Tuesday evening:

Active efforts are to be renewed at once to bring about the establishment of a brigade post at Tucson. When Congressman Carl Hayden and his secretary, A. P. Martin, so to Washington on February 1, they will be well supplied with all the arguments in favor of making this city a brigade post headquarters. Mr. Martin is now being furnished with information of that character.

The new movement started with the annual dinner at the Old Pueblo club, at which reference to the brigade post effort was made by J. M. Ormsby, Oscar Cole, making note of the fact, wrote to Congressman Hayden asking him to use his influence in congress to secure the post for Tucson. He received a reply which he has forwarded from Douglas to Tucson, in which Mr. Hayden stated that he was strongly in favor of a brigade post in Arizona, but that he had not investigated the relative claims of Tucson, Douglas and Prescott. He suggested, however, that all data possible be given to his secretary, Mr. Martin, to take with him to Washington.

This information, now being assembled, shows the outlet for troops from Tucson to the east, west and south by the Southern Pacific, to the north by the Arizona Eastern, to the east and northeast by the El Paso & Southwestern, and the possibility of the outlet to the north by the Santa Fe, and to the south by the Port Lobos railroad.

The advantages of Tucson from a standpoint of the health of the troops and as a supply point will also be shown conclusively. It is likely that a map showing the strategic location of Tucson relative to the border district and its transportation facilities will be furnished Mr. Martin.

CARD GAMES LACK IN GENERAL INTEREST

Nickel Slot Machines in Lowell Supplant
Draw Poker

Slot machines, as a means of working off an excess of sporting fever, are about the liveliest proposition to be found in Lowell these days. They are about as exciting as pari-mutuel betting on a horse race, but are much safer. As for poker and other card games, the dark days have come when the sportively inclined say, "I have no pleasure in them."

No clue to the Monday morning hold-up has been picked up, and no attempt will be made to "hunt down" the "bunda" in human form who touched the poker game for a matter of $100. Those who contributed to the robbers' jackpot dare not appeal to the officers, and as yet the officers are not officially in possession of any information that would enable them to conduct an investigation, even if they were so inclined, which they are not, for those who place themselves outside the pale of the law cannot with good grace ask protection of the law.

Notwithstanding the professional manner of the hold-up, it is believed that the robbers were persons living in the district who had foreknowledge of the poker game. The affair is regarded by officers as a practical joke with a sting in it, and that it served the gamblers bloody well right, as they say in England.

It seems anomalous for Bill Arizona, taker of a thousand chances, to stand before a dinky little slot machine whose ante is its limit, and assuage sporting fever drop by drop, but that is the situation in Lowell. "Purdy soon I'll be drinkin' my mornin' mornin' through a straw and greasin' my plate with a lemon," said a disgusted commentator yesterday.

IN "OLD FRITZ'S" HONOR
BERLIN, Jan. 24.—Emperor William was astir early today and inaugurated the second day of the festivities in connection with the celebration of the 200th anniversary of the birth of Frederick the Great. Attending by the commanding officers of the Prussian army, the Emperor this morning participated in a solemn memorial service in the old garrison church at Potsdam, where the remains of his great ancestor are buried.

This afternoon was devoted to parades, regimental celebrations and numerous other festivities. The weather was favorable, and the capital had put on its gayest attire, large crowds thronged the streets, which were most elaborately decorated with the brilliancy of the display. The decorations of Unter den Linden and Friedrichstrasse were especially profuse.

GILMORE DOES NOT TELL WHO WILL BE ASSISTANT TO HIM

District Attorney Elect
Sees No Provision for Job.

MANY SEEK OFFICE

W. G. Gilmore, district attorney-elect, spent Tuesday night in Bisbee to attend the installation ceremonies of the Knights of Pythias, of which he is grand chancellor for Arizona, and left yesterday morning for Douglas. While in this city he was seen by a representative of The Review and talked of his plans for assuming office and the conduct of the office when he shall take it over. As to when he should assume his duties he was as a matter of course more or less "up in the air" since it depends upon the action of others and not of himself in the main.

"I presume it will be not far from the first of March, though it may be a little sooner that we will have statehood given us by the proclamation of the president," said the district attorney to be. "No one seems to be able to tell just when the count at Phoenix will be completed or to form any definite idea. Then there has been the suggestion that the president may fix Washington's Birthday or Lincoln's Birthday, provided the count and certification have been completed by that time, as the day for Arizona to become a state. What day he will appoint no one can state. He may make a proclamation effective immediately or one to become effective on a day subsequent, which he appoints and then after that will come the taking of the oath of office by those who were elected last December."

Relative to appointments in his office Mr. Gilmore was able to say little or at any rate he had little to say. "I am receiving numerous applications for the appointment of assistant district attorney. Now there is no provision in the constitution for such a position. I do not know whether there will be an allowance made to me for a salary for such a position. Not knowing this, how can I make an appointment to such a position? If there is an allowance made for an assistant in my office I can use one and will appoint but in the meantime there is no use in making plans and much less use in making promises which I may never have an opportunity to fulfill."

Among the applications for the position of assistant county attorney is J. P. Ross, of Douglas, former chairman of the county committee before the selection of Jim Henderson and in Douglas he is considered to have a good chance for appointment. That opinion does not prevail in the Warren District, however, for here the knowing ones when questioned on the subject look wise and say nothing or else confine their remarks on the subject to two words, "Alexander Murray."

Mr. Gilmore states that he has to a large extent familiarized himself with the duties in the particular cases that will come into his hands first and is ready to enter upon the office "when the bell rings."

PIE LEADS TO HIS DOWNFALL

Strange Story of Conchin
Starts With Theft
of New England
Breakfast Food

WEEPS BEFORE COURT

John Conchin, who was held to the grand jury, on the charge of burglary and attempted burglary, blubbered like a repentant lad boy when taken into Judge High court yesterday morning to receive the money that had been taken from his person when he was placed under arrest.

Conchin succumbed to an impulse to become reminiscent, and when the court advised him in the future to keep out of trouble and avoid other people's belongings as he would no longer be broken down and cried with child-like absence of restraint.

"I don't believe that you can resist the temptation, can you?" asked the court.

"It seems that I can't," sobbed Conchin, and when he said good by to the anxious expressed itself in uncontrollable sobs.

Interesting Life Story
The story of Conchin's life presents an interesting study to the criminologist. He has been known in the Warren District for eighteen years, and at one time he was known as a good citizen. He was a miner then, employed in local mines, and he lived happily and contentedly with his family. Those who remember him as he was then, say that he was good to his family, taking good care of them.

But it seems that there was in Conchin's nature a tincture of envy without control. Notwithstanding that it is prohibited by one of the Ten Commandments, it is human to envy the fortune and possessions of other people. A man is a criminal or an honest man, however, by virtue of other qualities that serve to offset the activity of his envy.

Conchin's downfall began, according to his associates of eighteen years ago, when he began stealing pie—apple pie—from the lunch pails of his fellow workers in the mine. He seemed to have an abnormal desire for apple pie, and when he had eaten all that his own pail contained, he would stealthily take apple pie from his comrades' lunch pails.

Cure Is Tried
But at that time Conchin's kleptomania confined itself to pie, and reduced his falling to monomania. One day those who had suffered from Conchin's pie depredations put a certain kind of physic in his cuts of pie, and the result was so summary that the victim had to lay off from work several weeks.

The physic did not break up the pie depredations, however, with each dinner pail incursion Conchin's mania appeared to increase, and it was not long before he was in the toils of the law. The envy in his cosmos grew a pair of grasping hands and a pair of swift-running feet.

From an apple pie desire to a bold, burrowing, burglarious envy, was the development of eighteen years. Conchin allowed his desire an inch and it took an ell. In a book at the Montana penitentiary, opposite a number, are the Bertilloned plans and specifications of the man who once had an abnormal love for apple pie.

It has been demonstrated that penitentiary is no remedy to apply to a man like Conchin, and when a more ideal system of corrective punishment has been attained in this country, perhaps it will be in the form of a pie cure for such men as John Conchin.

SUE SUPERVISORS FOR EXPENSES AT RECENT ELECTION

Precinct Officers Chosen
Plan Redress
From Board

DEMAND CERTIFICATES

Word comes from county points that in the event the county board of supervisors does not issue certificates of election to the recent candidates in the recent precinct election, that all of those successful candidates will bring a joint suit against the board of supervisors to recover their expenses in the recent election.

If all of the candidates enter into this agreement the suit will be for several thousand dollars.

It is not known who is the moving spirit of this agreement, but it would appear that they have a probable cause of action. The matter of the election of precinct officers has been a whole skeleton of bones of contention ever since the matter was first broached, and it would seem that the question's possibilities for trouble are unlimited.

Held Board Responsible
If certificates of election are not forthcoming from the board of supervisors the elected precinct officials will assume, it is said, that the call for the election and the election itself was unwarranted and that the board of supervisors, having made the mistake in the face of a contrary opinion from the attorney general, should shoulder the consequences of their mistake.

Though the last office in the long list of offices, in importance as well as on the ballot, the precinct office has been as much discussed in recent current state history as statehood itself. Some one made the discovery that the enabling act made no provision for the election of precinct officers, and that started the talk.

Official opinions from Phoenix came hot off the reel, the consensus of them being that the precinct officers should hold over until the new state should provide for their election. These officers were expurgated from the general election call sent out from Phoenix, but in three of the counties of the state precinct elections were held.

Even those territorial incumbents of precinct offices who were elected to continue in office under statehood may maintain that they were needlessly put to the expense of running for office when they could have held office without running for it, and ask that they be indemnified in the amount of their election expenses. Those who ran for precinct offices and were defeated, and running because the board of supervisors said that there was a race, will be even more anxious to get it on the suit against the county board of supervisors, very likely.

Should the suit be brought, however, it will not be against the present, territorial, board of supervisors but against their successors, as the representatives of the county of Cochise. Whether the parties to this proposed agreement have consulted legal authority on the soundness of their proposed action is not known.

THE GERM WHICH PRODUCES DANDRUFF

Finally Causes Baldness.—Kill the Germ and Save Your Hair.—New-bro's Herpicide Will Do It.

Did you ever try to discover a reason for the dying of a valuable plant? You perhaps found that life was destroyed by some insect or parasite working about the roots and sapping away the elements which go to support plant life.

The dandruff germ exercises the same destructive influence upon the life of the hair. It forces its way down the follicle around the hair bulb and thus prevents the hair from getting proper nourishment. The hair dies and drops out.

Newbro's Herpicide prevents this by killing the germ. It also frees the scalp from the accumulations of dirt and sebum. With the removal of these obstacles to a clean, healthy scalp, the hair will grow naturally and luxuriantly.

Herpicide is known as the Original Dandruff Germ Destroyer. One dollar size bottles are sold and guaranteed by all druggists. Applications may be obtained at the better barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

Send 10c in postage or silver to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich., for a nice sample of Herpicide and a booklet telling all about the hair.
